VOLUME XXI—NO. 117 CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1920 TWO CENTS

IDENTIFIES PRISONER AS ONE WHO ROBBED HIM ON STREET

Accused Is Held In $1,000 Bail For Appearance At Court, Which is Furnished

ARRESTED BY LOCAL POLICE

Chief Albright and Patrolman Murphy on Wednesday afternoon arrested Ovidis Costello of 306 Crest avenue, better known as "Chicken," on a charge of highway robbery, and he was given a hearing before Justice R. J. Whitehead last evening. The prosecutor was P. T. McIlried of Fallowfield avenue, who was held up and robbed on Sunday night, October 10th ,about 8 o'clock, as he was on his way to work in the Pittsburg Steel mill in Monessen.

The local officers have been following clues to the robbery for several days and on Wednesday believed they had sufficient evidence against the man to warrant his arrest. He was taken to the police station and Mr. McIlried summoned. The latter had stated to the police immediately after the hold-up had taken place that he knew the man by sight but did not know his name and would be able to recognize him.

When Mr. McIlried saw Costello at the police station last evening he immediately recognized him and said he was the man who had robbed him. An information followed before Justice Whitehead and a hearing held. Wm. Armbruster, who was held up on the night of the 15th on Fifth street, in front of the Fifth street school building, was present at the hearing but could not positively identify the man. He said Costello looked very much like him, but on the night of the hold-up the robber had a blue handkerchief tied over his face. McIlried, however, was positive in his identification and the Justice held the accused in $1,000 bail for his appearance at the next term of criminal court, the bond being furnished by Arthur Francisconi. During the testimony it developed that since 1917 Costello had worked in many places and that he had been employed only about half time.

ATTEND MORNING WEDDING IN MONONGAHELA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fries attended the wedding of Miss Anna Anton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anton, Sr., of Monongahela, and Harold Vogel of Donora, which was solemnized at nine o'clock Wednesday morning in the Church of the Transfiguration at Monongahela, Rev. Father Walsh officiating. Mr. Fries served as one of the ushers. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home in that city, after which the bride and groom left on a wedding trip which will include a visit to Cuba.

MONESSEN GIRL TRIES POISON ROUTE

Margaret Page, age 22, who gave her address as 939 Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen, was taken to the South Side hospital Tuesday evening, suffering from the effects of a dose of poison. The girl had been in company with Mrs. Josephine Ross, who also gave her address as 939 Schoonmaker avenue, and three men who had visited Pittsburg during the evening. All gave the same address, which is the notorious "brick house" which the police have raided more than once. The other four in the party were fined at a hearing in police court Wednesday morning.

CLOSE CONTEST IS TAKEN BY "LUNKS"

Capt. Osborne's "Lunks" defeated Capt. Russell's "Wahoos" two out of three games on the Elks' alleys last night. The "Wahoos" took the first game by 43 pins, the second game going to the "Lunks" by nine pins and the third by ten. No other games played on these alleys have been so closely contested. A battle was ought between the contesting Captains with Osborne finally leading by 11 pins. John Hugus went into the last game in place of "Doc" Wilson and rolled a nice game. "Link" Piersol was in good form and rolled a beautiful game for the "Wahoos" but unfortunately fouled on one fine shot, which lost the game for his team. Tonight the "Oilers" and "Trimmers" will face each other. Capt. Walter Campbell will present Dave Dixon and his famous port side delivery, but Capt. Roy Carson has a hard bunch to take over, so there is going to be another fine contest. The game will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The score of last night's game:

CHARLEROI HIGH TO MEET CLAIRTON

This Saturday afternoon the Charleroi High School Football team will clash with Clairton High School team at the ball grounds. Though the locals are confident that they will win they are taking this game as seriously as they have taken past games and are leaving nothing undone to prepare for this game. Weaver will be back in the lineup, and O'Brien will have sufficiently recovered to participate also. Gray is in fairly good shape but he will most likely not be used unless the visitors prove to be hard to beat.

With the Washington game over the locals have now a good chance for the Championship of Washington county and the championship of the valley. The tie game played last Saturday will, most likely, not have to be played over unless the locals and Washington win all of their remaining county games.

The coming game this Saturday will start at 3 o'clock.

CONFERENCE HELD BY S. S. TEACHERS

The teachers and officers of The Washington Avenue Presbyterian Sunday School had a conference and "get-together" meeting in the Sunday School room of the church Tuesday evening. Dr. F.C. Stahlman, the perintendent, presided and plans were were formulated for an aggressive fall campaign. Dr. J. W.Manon, the county president, was the speaker of the evening, and gave a report of the recent state convention held in Harrisburg. Lunch was served at the close of the program by the Sewing Circle of the church. Reports of all the teachers indicated much interest being taken in the class work, and the slogan, "Every member of the church in the Sunday school, and every member of the Sunday school in the church" was adopted.

MAXWELL—RICHEY NUPTIALS WEDNESDAY EVENING

The Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated Wednesday evening at the wedding of Miss Bessie Richey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richey, of Lookout aveeue, Charleroi, and Ralston E. Maxwell of West Newton. The ceremony was performed at 5:45 o'clock in the study of the church which had been gorgeously decorated for the event. The bride was gowned in a traveling suit of blue and carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Dora Sieber of Pittsburg, who also wore a corsage bouquet of roses. Ellsworth Morris of Belle Vernon ,was best man. The ring ceremony was used. The bride is a well known school teacher of the Monongahela valley, and is an active church worker, being president of the Westminister Guild of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. Mr. Maxwell is an employe of the Carnegie Steel company, and a well known young man. The young couple left Wednesday evening for a western wedding trip, and upon returning expect to make their future home in Charleroi.

TICKETS ARE FREE FOR SONG RECITAL

Tickets for the song recital to be given at the high school auditorium this evening at 8:15 o'clock, by Madame Odette Le Fontenay ,the celebrated operatic soprano, which may be procured, free of charge, of W. B. Pfleghardt, are going rapidly. Judging from the demand a large audience will be present as the opportunity of hearing such a distinguished singer, and under such conditions, is one which rarely presents itself. Madame Le Fontenay will be assisted at the piano by Mr. William Barry, a performer of repute, while the Edison three-million dollar talking machine will produce recreations of the work of the singer thus affording a splendid opportunity for comparison. It is essential that every person have a ticket, because it will be impossible to regulate the attendance to the seating capacity of the hall without one. Mr. Pfleghardt will willingly issue tickets as long as seats are available.

BELLEVERNON WILL CELEBRATE HALLOWE'EN

Belle Vernon is preparing to hold a grand Hallowe'en party, on Saturday, October 30, beginning at 12 o'clock noon and continuing until midnight, with something doing all the time. The program provides bands, orchestras, parades, races and suitable cash prizes for all events.

The celebration is to be held under the direction of the Belle Vernon volunteer fire departmtnt, with a view of creating enthusaism in a drive for the purchase of a new fire truck. Thurman Reeves is general chairman of the fire truck committee and also of the hallowe'en celebration and T. C. McKinley is assistant chairman. They have appointed a number of 'live wires" on the various committees, which assures the success of the celebration. It is anticipated that many visitors will attend the celebration from outside the town, and the committee expects to have something of interest every hour of the afternoon and evening for their entertainment. It is hoped to have a number of visiting fire trucks in town, which will appear in the parade. A feature of the evening will be the presentation of a Ford sedan, which is to be one of the prizes to be given away.

DONORA LEADS IN IMPROVED PLACE FOR HOLDING ELECTIONS

Third Precinct Voters Will Cast Their Ballots In a Dress Making Shop

IS QUITE AN INNOVATION

Woman suffrage is already making itself felt in the way of improved surroundings for polling places, Donora being the first section in the county to feel the refining influence of the new order of things.

Recently the property in which the election room for the third precinct was located changed owners and one of the results was the abolition of the privilege of holding elections at that place. And this was where the influence of women was shown in an effective manner, and the polling place located in a room that will be more accessible to all the voters of the district.

The matter being [illegible] the county commissioners [illegible] they changed the [illegible] the dressmaking [illegible] rier, which is quite a departure from the methods heretofore followed when selecting a place in which to hold elections. The male voters may feel somewhat out of place in this feminie institution, but no doubt all of those entiled to the franchise in that precinct will make even greater efforts than ever to have their votes recorded on election day.

Many of the polling places in different communities througbout the county could be greatly improved upon, and no doubt the entrance of women into participation in elections will have an influence that will greatly improve surroundings and accommodations for election boards.

Donora is to be congratulated as being the pioneer in this movement for the betterment of places for holding elections.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Funeral services for Seth Thomas, late of Roscoe, were held at his former home Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended. Business generally was suspended in the town during the afternoon out of respect to the memory of the deceased. The funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Hackett, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Fayette City, assisted by Rev. Mr. Henry, pastor of the Methodist church of Roscoe. A quartet composed of Prof. I. T. Daniel, Mrs. e. T. Daniel, Miss Blanche Allison and Onan Morgan, all of Charleroi, furnished the music.

ELLSWORTH GIRL IS MISSING FROM HOME

Ruth Welling, aged 17 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Welling of Ellsworth, has been mysteriously missing from her home since last Friday ,October 8. A continuous search for her has been conducted by her father and the mother is practically prostrated from grief.

No reason can be advanced by members of the Welling family for Ruth's disappearance. Quiet, even to the point of being shy, she was apparently contented. Until a short time ago she was employed as telephone operator.

Leaving home on Friday before last, the girl said she was going to Bentleyville to buy a pair of shoes. At Bentleyville she took a street car for Charleroi. She is known to have left the car here, but that was the last trace found by the searching father.

When she left home the girl wore a turban-like hat covered with all-over bronze. She wore a brown polo coat with a gray Angora collar and cuffs. Her skirt was a green and black plaid. Her height is about five feet four inches. Being slender in build her weight is probably about 110 pounds.

BOWLERS FAIL TO PUT IN APPEARANCE

Capt. Brown being away and only two of his regular men being present, Capt. Kuhn of the "Champs"agreed to call the game off rather than to play a team composed of substitutes scheduled for the Elks bowling league Tuesday night. Tonigh Capt. Arch Osborne's "Lunks" play Capt. Russell's "Wahoos." Both teams are composed of good bowlers, and an exciting contest is promised.

The party left Brownsville about 9 o'clock in the morning in six cars. The entire day was spent in the mountains and a most enjoyable time was had by all the participants. LUCKY CHARLESTON!

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Charleston, South Carolina, has written an extended magazine article on the subject "Southern Ports to Profit from Shipping Board Policy," and gives particular attention to the bright future before the port of Charleston. Says he, "Among the harbor facilities which can be brought to play in competing for freight, Charleston has a splendid advantage in the government port terminals, which were built during the war emergency at a cos aggregating $17,000,000." And he adds that the "construction of these was not completed until after the signing of the armistice."

If these statements were made by a Northern Republican, they would be seized upon immediately as partisan criticism of a Democratic administration. But the statements are made by the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Charleston, and we can't imagine a Republican holding such a position in South Carolina. We accept it as true that in competing with other ports for ocean freight business, Charleston has "a splendid advantage" in the Government port terminals which were constructed in the war emergency but not completed until after the armistice. In fact, it appears that the terminals did not reach such a stage of construcion as to permit of even partial use until after the war was over. The port terminals were in the same category with the aircraft construction which was mismanaged by Col. Deeds the neighbor and political friend of Governor Cox. They were in the same category with the Mussel Shoals project also in the South, upon which the government spent millions with no resulant help to the war.

We are not jealous of Charleston. We rejoice in her prosperity and the assurance of her safe future in ocean commerce. If Charleston enjoys a splendid advantage over other American cities because of the government terminals built with the proceeds of war bonds, we hope that advantage will be in some measure enjoyed by the rest of the country. But we might suggest to the Democratic campaign managers that hereafer when they complain that Republicans are unjust in exposing sectional favoritism, they complain of what their own particular section practically admits.

UNION OF GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

The once great empire of Austria-Hungary is now reduced to a small tract inhabited mostly by men of German blood. It is no surprise, therefore, to hear that the Austrian National Assembly has decided to take a plebiscite on the question of joining Germany. The proposed union is said to be favored in Austria by Pan-Germans, Socialists and others who think business will be benefited. It is opposed by Hohenzollern-halting mountaineers, men who fear that Viennese culure will lose its distinctiveness, and others who dread domination from Berlin. The most powerful opponent, however, is France, the French Foreign Office having announced that "imporant measures" will be taken to prevent the union. After suffering so much at the hands of Germany, it is natural enough for the French to object to the proposal to strengthen her old enemy through the incorporation of seven million Germans.

Though the annexation of Austria would strengthen Germany, it is argued that it would weaken the grip of Prussia—the real enemy of France—by reinforcing the anti-Prussian elements. Catholic Austria would be expected to side with the Catholic Rhineland, Bavaria and the other south German States that have ever resented Prussian domination. For this reason the French policy has been called unwise, but it is easy to understand that the French are not disposed to take chances. Whatever the outcome, the proposition and the present low estate of the once proud and commanding Austrian empire furnish an impressive illustration of the mutability of human affairs.

DOWN IN HAITI.

They call it working for peace, says the New York Mail—those officials in the national administration at Washington who are responsible for the killing—murdering?—of 3,251 Haitians under our military rule of the island. How many more have died of their wounds is not reported.

Truly it IS peace—the peace of the dead; you have to go back to the days of Warren Hastings' rule of India a century and a quarter ago to find its parallel for brutalities. It seems incredible that an administration which persists in seeking a "solemn referendum" on its world peace policies should be responsible for such a murderous regime. Nevertheless, our Navy department is not only responsible for its conduct, but is an endorsement of it throughout the past year by reason of its accurate knowledge of what was going on and its failure to remove or reprimand our officers in charge of the island.

What explanation is there for the attitude of the Secretary of the Navy who sloshes around the country sanctimoniously declaring his passion for peace when at the very moment he is the head and front of a continuous massacre of native Haitians by our marine corps—certainly not acting without orders from Washington?

Here we have a new and confirming example of what "executive" rule means when it is not counterbalanced as our federal Constitution so wisely provides, by the co-ordinate power of the legislative and judicial departments of government. The history of fallen nations is strewn with barbarities inseparable from autocratic rule. Until Gen. Barnett's official report of our policy in Haiti under executive authoriy, it has never been said of America that its rule has ever been other han humane and just.

The revelations about conditions in Haiti will call for more than an explanation on the part of hose respotnsible for he conditions which have been obtained there and which have been kept from the people and from Congress. It is a humiliating exposure.

In the British museum may be seen the heavy oaken plank, once a part of the bottom of a stout vessel, which had been pierced by the sword of a swordfish. The weapon remains fast fixed in the timber. Along the Atlantic coast of the United States swordfish are hunted both for their flesh, which is palatable, and also in order to protect the schools of bluefish and mackerel which they ravage.

The "Bobbin Boy."

This was a nickname given to Nathaniel Prentiss Banks of Massachusetts, at one time its governor and for many years a member of congress. He was speaker of the house of representatives for a session, being chosen on the one hundred and thirty-third ballot. In his youth he learned the trade of a machinist and worked in a factory; hence the nickname.

First English Coin.

It is a common error to suppose that the first English coin was made of copper. It was made of gold about A. D. 150, and is believed to have been struck in celebration of the victory of Scan, the overlord of the ten provisional chiefs in southern Britain, over the Saxon invaders.

World's Smallest Book.

The record of the complete French version of Dante's "Divine Comedy," which was shown at the Paris exposition in 1882, does not seem to have been less than half an inch square, and though containing over 500 pages, required only two sheets of printer's paper for its makeup.

First Enthusiasm Gone.

Marcelle was delighted when a small brother arrived at her home. However, after some weeks she began to think he was somewhat of a care, and one day when her mother told her to rock his cradle, she looked at him with disdain and remarked, "Oh, you little bothering thing!"

Perhaps one of the most primitive of independent kingdoms is the little island of Johanna, in the Comoro group. The sultan boards any ship that may call there and endeavors to secure the washing for his wives, while the prime minister peddles cocoanuts and bananas.

Had Enough of That Number.

A North Carolina man whose automobile license was numbered 13 sent it back to the secretary of state with a letter saying: "The first day I rode with it, I lost $13, and the second day I lost 13 inches of skin off my leg. Please send me a safer number." He got it.

Elephants on His Hands.

Order received by the grocer over the phone: "Please send us 10 cents worth of animal crackers and take out the elephants as the baby is afraid of them."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Hamlet's Advantage.

"The play's the thing!" exclaimed Hamlet. Then he added aside: "Fortunately the cinema has not been invented, so the king cannot forsake my box to go to the movies."

LAST BLOW AT CAPITALISM

Lenine's Beautiful Scheme Puts End to All Possibility of Laying Away Any Money.

Among the many strange fruits of the war is the first national legislation on record that frankly champions the Prodigal Son and makes frugality not only undesirable, but also impracticable. This law, according to recent news from Copenhagen, has been promulgared by—yes, of course—by the inspired statesmen of the Soviets.

They are issuing a new currency that's guaranteed to be specific cure for all the ills of capitalism. A different series of notes comes out each month and every series has a different color. Besides, a glorious innovation in finance is brought to pass through the proviso that every note becomes null, void, invalid, absolutely worthless at the expiration of the month for which it was emitted.

Result: The social millennium! All July wages, salary, profits, or income received in pale green July currency must be paid out by July 31. It can't be exchanged after that date for the glowing pink of August's issue; and, furthermore, it will seldom be accepted at its full face value, even in July, by any concern not thoroughly sovietized. Thus all of Comrade Lenine's social, commercial, industrial, or agricultural undertakings are assured of ample savings, the creation of capital becomes thereforte impossible.—New York Evening Post.

TO WALK ACROSS COUNTRY

Famous Swiss Pedestrian Will Make Exhaustive Study of Men and Conditions in America.

Dr. Maxime Leuret, the Swiss globe-trotting walker, recently arrived in this country. Dr. Leuret, a graduate in medicine of the University of Berne, has trod the humble path of the pedestrian through some 31,000 miles in Europe and the two Americas, observes the Boston Transcript. Since he started his walking campaign in 1914 he has worn out over 100 stout and well-made pairs of shoes—102, to be exact.

Seeking new worlds to conquer Dr. Leuret now proposes to walk across the continent from New York to San Francisco. Moreover, it is a "pay-as-you-go" affair with the distinguished Swiss pedestrian. Spurning a walking trip with all expenses paid, he is determined to earn the expenses of his transcontinental venture by such occasional and temporary jobs as may happen to turn up.

Dr. Leuret will meet and study in their homes and villages all the types that make up the great American family. He will learn by actual contact, and not by reading a geography, the country's topographical features.

Odd Beer Labels.

In certain American circles where bottled beer would readily circulate as money, if the laws were more obliging, immediate approval will greet the late achievement of an Austrian brewery.

This concern happens to be the "Krone" brewery and that name means "crown" in German. Also the present cost of such a label as the brewery has been pasting on its bottled product is 10 Swiss centimes—approximately 2 American cents in normal times.

But the brewery is now cutting down expenses and delighting connoisseurs by decorating each quart bottle with a one-crown note at a cost of 7½ centimes.

"Gone Are the Old Days."

We are all slaves. Wrists were made for manacles. One may look at the desk after a vacation and we are going through all the old motions with as much facility as if there never had been a lapse into Elysium. Yea, the pen is mightier than the mashie, the typewriter more potent than the racquet, and as for the "call of the wild," its "urge" is not comparable with the information that "the boss wants to see you." It was all very fine while it lasted. But its purpose was to make the laziness feel a bit sadder. And unless you had a vocation, there could not be such thing as a vacation.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The London exquisite is doing his best to cultivate side whiskers, a fashion that was somewhat frowned upon a few years ago when Lord Rockyarse attempted its resurrection. But that was in the days before the war, and probably it is as a change from the regulation military mustache of the last five or six years that British young men of today are growing tufts of hair in front of their ears with most hideous result.

Accidents Take Heavy Toll.

Every year 11,037,000 persons are hurt in various kinds of accidents, and 150,000 are killed. That's according to the statistics of the health and accident underwriters' conference. The figures are averages. The insurance men say the "personal carelessness of the American is to blame" and that speed is the present plague.

Too Quiet.

"Enjoy your vacation?"

"Not much. Went to one of those advertised quiet little places where you can get a good rest."

"Didn't like it?"

"Not a bit. It was really quiet."

If!

If we could only shed a few profiteers!

COAL PRICES DROP SHORTAGE DANGER PAST

The price of coal is reported as going down, such a statement being accredited to coal operators who were interviewed on the situation on Wednesday. Within the last few days there has been a falling off in price of between $1 and $1.50. Furthermore it was announced there would be no danger of a shortage of bituminous coal this winter.

The fact that the price of coal is falling and that the supply is becoming more plentiful developed on Wednesday on the eve of the meeting of coal operators which was opened this morning in the Oliver building in Pittsburg. The conference will consider a plan similar to that recently put into effect in Northern West Virginia for the stabilization of the coal industry in that district.

WINNERS DINE AT EXPENSE OF LOSERS

As an aftermath of the world series of baseball games in which the Clevelands triumphed over Brooklyn those members of the Charleroi Aerie of Eagles who backed the losers, entertained the followers of the Cleveland Indians at a dinner held at the club house, McKean avenue, Tuesday evening. The Aerie was divided into two camps, each member being opposed by another, the loser to furnish a certain amount of the ingredients which would go to make up the banquet Tuesday evening was set for the occasion, and a dinner prepared under direction of Robert Hawkins, was served to almost four hundred members and guests. The bill of fare was varied and embraced all kinds of meats in abundance, as well as the trimmings, and was thoroughly enjoyed by winners and losers alike.

Henry Wagner introduced E. R. Allen as toastmaster, who filled that responsible position in a manner pleasing to all. Short addresses were made by a number of invited guests, and the fellowship of the occasion was enjoyed to the fullest extent.

MANY WILL ATTEND PITT FOOTBALL GAME

Quite a number of Charleroi people expect to attend the football game at Forbes Field on Saturday next, at which time Georgia Tech, known as the "Golden" Tornado," meets the University of Pittsburg team. It is estimated that at least 25,000 people will be in attendance to witness the contest.

SHERIFF ALEX GRAY BACK AT HIS DESK

Sheriff Alexander Gray, who attended the Syracuse-Pitt football game at Syracuse last Saturday, and went thence to New York City on a business trip, has returned home. Before returning to Washington he was at Roscoe, where on Tuesday he attended the funeral of Seth Thomas, who died Saturday night of injuries sustained when hit by a train on a crossing above Roscoe. While in New York, Sheriff Gray met with State College alumni relative to raising a fund for a proposed new track house at State College.

STORE DESTROYED AT PRICEDALE

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed the general store of the Pittsburg Coal company at Pricedale, Monday evening. Three violent explosions, attributed to stores of blasting powder kept in the building, a large two-story frame structure, rocked the surrounding territory and were heard for miles, causing many to believe the place had been dynamited. The post office, located in the building, was also destroyed in spite of the efforts of a bucket brigade. Pricedale has no fire equipment and appeals were sent to outside towns for assistance, the Charleroi company responding. The loss is estimated between $40,000 and $80,000.

GOTHIC LITERARY CLUB ENJOYS FINE PROGRAM

The Gothic Literary Club met in the Elks' Community Room, Tuesday evening, October 19, with the president, Mrs. Lewis Chester Fiedler in charge. A program was rendered in which Mrs. H. Van Dolson gave a discussion of the value, meaning and quality of literature; the derivation of the English language, particularly the part taken by the Anglos and Saxons, was told by Miss Laura Cook. Miss Margaret McDermott reviewed the poem, "Beowulf" in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. Fiedler gave a report on the "Federation of Women's Clubs." The Club has recently become a member of the Federation. This was the first time the organization had accepted the invitation of the Elks to use the Community room, which promises to become a popular meeting place for organizations of this kind. After the meeting a delightful luncheon was served at Wagners, the hostesses being Miss Mary Provins and Miss Edna Weight. President's Day will be served Tuesday evening, October 26.

COOLIDGE MAKES HIT IN STATE

Vice President Candidate Speaks to Large Gathering.

TALKS AND ACTS LIKE LINCOLN

Those Unable to Crowd Into Hall Hear Fine Speech by Lieutenant Governor Edward E. Beidleman.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Facing an audience that filled the spacious Academy of Music hall to the rafters, Governor Calvin S. Coolidge, of Massachusetts, the Republican nominee for the office of vice president of the United States, delivered a stirring speech on Americanism at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the Union League of this city, last Friday evening. The splendidly-equipped chief executive of the Massachusetts commonwealth, who almost over night became a national figure less than two years ago and whose mannerisms and quaint truisms have been likened to the utterances of the late Abraham Lincoln, was at his best and his speech was received with a wonderful outburst of welcome.

GOV. CALVIN COOLIDGE

Governor Allen, of Kansas, and Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania also spoke to this audience. Each did not mince words in suming up Democratic inconsistencies and what Cox does not stand for, regardless of his oratorical platitudes delivered as he swings across the continent. Governor Allen is one of the foremost orators on the American platform. He talks in a clear, incisive, straight-from-the-shoulder manner and his style is not unlike that of the late Colonel Roosevelt.

Pennsylvania's governor, the Hon. William C. Sproul, of course, held the house, as he always does. He is one of the best informed men in public life today and when he speaks his audience is sure to hear something worth while. His reference to Democratic extravagances, poor business methods and the disposition that prevails at Washington to undermine and virtually destroy the industries of America by excess taxation, seemed to have struck the right chord and when he asked that the Wilson brigade be turned out by the largest majority ever piled up against a Democratic candidate in the United States, applause lasting for many minutes swept the hall.

Speaks to Overflow.

So large was the crowd which endeavored to get into the hall to hear these three governors discuss the campaign, that hundreds were turned away and it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting on South Broad street in front of the Union League. The chief speaker at this over-flow gathering was no less a person than Lieutenant Governor Edward E. Beidleman, of Harrisburg. It is unnecessary to state that Mr. Beidleman said something worth while. He always does. He outlined briefly what the Republican party has accomplished in the nation since it has been created, pointing first to the fact that it abolished human slavery, paid the gigantic debt created by the nation's war, preserved the national credit and fought all times to debase the national currency. Mr. Biedleman said that for more than half a century the Republican party has maintained, interruptedly, the policy of protection under which industries in America have prospered. This meant keeping at the highest point level the standard of wages and living. He also stated that the Republican party has accomplished wonders in safeguarding the affairs of this hemisphere from European entanglements, though always maintaining a zealous stand for the dignity and security of American citizenship. "A party that has, given the nation in fifty years the leadership of ten presidents, no one of whom was of doubtful patriotism or ability, should be sufficient reason for every citizen, who believes that a political party is more than a name, but rather an organization that may achieve enduring work for the nation, to vote the straight Republican ticket on November 2," said Governor Beidleman.

That League of Nations.

The lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania also said a few words about the league of nations. He did not go into a long discussion of that unpopular instrument, but illustrated his talk by quoting the following example of how the league will work. He said that this illustration is not original with him, but rather originated by a woman, who one time favored the league until she began to study it and especially the infamous article ten.

"Suppose, Mrs. Voter," said Mr. Berdleman as he turned to some of his lady auditors, "that for a number of years you have been happy and contented in a prosperous home.

LIEUT. GOV. BEIDLEMAN
Who Addressed Overflow Gathering of Republicans in Philadelphia.

"Suppose that your husband returned to his home where love and peace had reigned to announce, one night, that he had joined a new sort of lodge which was to make certain the peace of the community. That under the rules of the lodge all your problems henceforth, were to be settled not between you and your husband, but by the supreme council of the lodge, made up of representatives from your family, the family next door, the family across the street and from the family around the corner.

"Suppose that when a particular family was not satisfied with the way in which the supreme council managed its affairs that you and your neighbors were obliged to force them to accept your interference no matter whether you were concerned or wanted to meddle in the other family's affairs or not.

"Suppose in enforcing the laws of the lodge your husband and your son went across the street, along with other people's husbands and sons to the house of the independent neighbor, and that he, feeling quite capable of settling his own affairs without foreign interference came out with a shotgun. And your husband or your son was carried back to you dead—the victims of a lodge quarrel in which neither you nor your husband nor your son had any interest. They were merely keeping their pledged word to the lodge.

"Would you feel that the lodge was conserving the peace of the community? Wouldn't you feel that your home and the other homes would have been better off without membership in such a lodge, particularly since your husband had kept peace with all the neighbors before you joined the lodge?

"Wilson's league of nations is just such a lodge.

"Do you want to risk meddling in other people's affairs? Or would you prefer a judicial proceeding such as Senator Harding suggests to pass judgment on an offending state?"

Another speaker at this outdoor gathering was Auditor General Snyder, the Republican nominee for state treasurer. He spoke in his usual entertaining style and made a hit by a number of apt illustrations pertaining to Democratic incompetence.

"Tommies" Talk French.

One detects the influence of the war in the village inns of England today, says a correspondent who has just returned from a walking tour.

The "lads of the village" are home again, and gather, as of yore, in the bar parlor to discuss the events of the day; but there is a marked difference in their vocabulary.

For they remember the estaminets of France and the language talked therein. "Encore de biere" has become the formula for repeating an order, and "fini" has taken its place among the recognized methods of intimating refusal to drink again.—London Chronicle.

Such Is Life in the City.

Noticing that a young woman walking along the street ahead of her had dropped a purse a Milwaukee woman called to her and when the young woman turned around was amazed to find it was her sister, whom she had not seen for fourteen years and for whom she had long been searching. She took her sister back home with her and as they reached the flat the young woman said: "Why, I have lived for a year within a block and a half of here."

Overalls Built for Freak.

The girth measurement is 106 inches, and each of the hip pockets is big enough to hold a watermelon.

WARNS AGAINST OVER-CONFIDENCE

Chairman Crow Points Out Danger of Inactivity.

TAKE NOTHING FOR GRANTED

Says Enemy Can Get Foothold Only Through Republican Workers Lessening Efforts—Discusses Ticket.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—A sweeping victory for the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania is indicated by reports received from different sections of the state. The addition of hundreds of thousands of women voters to the ranks of those who will cast ballots at the election next month, means a greater Republican majority and it will not be surprising if Harding and Coolidge carry Pennsylvania by one hundred million plurality.

STATE CHAIRMAN CROW
Who Asks Republicans to Keep Fighting All the Time.

It looks so favorable to the Republicans not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the country, that the average Republican is in danger of becoming negligent in the matter of casting his vote, and in asking his neighbor to turn out on November 2d. This feeling of super-confidence seems to have caught the Republicans everywhere, and the Republicans of Pennsylvania perhaps, are more likely to be effected than those in states which do not give so big a Republican majority in presidential years.

Republican State Chairman Crow is sounding a warning against over-confidence and he is anxious that Pennsylvania does not lag behind in piling up a decisive Republican majority merely because Republican voters are taking too much for granted.

"Often times a ticket is jeopardized through the neglect of its friends," said Chairman Crow the other day in going over the situation. "It is true everything looks rosy at the present time, but our enemies are busy day in and day out and it will not do for any of us to give them the slightest opportunity for a foot-hold. It behooves every Republican therefore to keep fighting all the time.

Republican Principles Needed.

"The people of Pennsylvania are not going to permit the atmosphere to become befouled by the enemy injecting outside issues into the campaign. The real issue after all, and the one that effects Pennsylvania greater than anything else, is the tariff. The country needs a restoration of Republican principles to put it again on a solid foundation, and I mean by a solid foundation, plenty of work, a full dinner pail, without excessive cost in filling the dinner pail.

"Nor should Pennsylvania voters forget the fact that when they pick up the ballot this year they will find on it a state ticket of excellent quality. We are proud of the nominees made in this important year. The state ticket is headed by Senator Penrose whose services to the state and nation are so well known that they need not be gone into. No man has advocated the Republican policy of the protective tariff under which the industries of Pennsylvania and those of the nation have prospered, as has Senator Penrose. He stands like a rock against the present incompetent, extravagance and bungling Democratic administration.

Splendid Candidates

"The candidate for Auditor General, Mr. Samuel S. Lewis, is a lawyer of ability and thoroughly acquainted with the duties of the Auditor General's office. He is a man who will give the people fine services and an administration of the important office of Auditor General such as will prove beneficial to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

"Hon. Charles A. Snyder, the nominee for State Treasury, is peculiarly fitted to take up the duties of the office. He is now the Auditor General and it is unnecessary to mention the fact that no Auditor General of Pennsylvania left behind a record of such splendor as General Snyder, and his friends will be able to point to after he turns over the reins of the place to his successor.

"The candidates for Congressmen at large Messrs Garland, Burke, Walter and McLaughlin are real Republicans standing for the principles of the party and their experience at Washington will go far towards equipping them to assist in the great work of reconstruction about to begin when the Republicans get control of the affairs of the national capital. A voter cannot go wrong, will make no mistake in voting the straight Republican ticket."

BLACKSMITH ALSO IN LINE

Farmer Discovered He Was Not the Only One Who Was Taking Down Good Profits.

While Tom Biggers, the village blacksmith, toiled over the ploughshare brought to him by old Peter Mullins, the farmer the owner told at length of the remarkable success he had had with three litters of pigs he had sold in a week or two days.

"Now," said old Peter, "them pigs was less than eight months old; and they brought me ten cents a pound or a little above $80. Why, Tom, only a few years ago them same pigs would have fetched me only about half as much. I tell you, Tom, the farmer is gittin' his harvest, now."

By this time Biggers had completed the sharpening of the share, and he handed it to Peter. From a well-worn purse old Peter took forth two dimes, the usual price for such a job, and dropped them into the blacksmith's hand.

"Say, Peter," observed Biggers, "you'll have to come again. I charge thirty cents since the first of the year for sharpening that plow."

"That's an outrage!" spluttered old Peter. "Why have you raised the price on me?"

"To buy some of that high priced pork you were just telling me about," said Biggers with a grin.—Philadelphia Ledger.

FUNGI THAT DAMAGE CANVAS

Frequently Within the Space of Three Months the Material Will Be Made Useless.

Major W. Broughton-Alcock of the British army made some studies on the fungi that cause black and brown spots on canvas tents, awnings, etc., and that bring about a more or less rapid destruction of such articles. A note on the subject by J. Ramsbottom appears in Nature. The investigations were carried out partly in Malta, where it is said, awnings last only about a year. The principal destructive agents in the case of cotton and flax-made canvas were found to be Macrosporium and Stemphylium. The variation in the color of the spots is found to be due to the presence of various other fungi in association with the genera above mentioned. The first signs of fungoid growth appear on the inner side of the roof portions of tents and marquees. Often within three months pressure on the spots made by the fungi leads to perforation, or a strong wind causes tearing. Experiments showed that the Willesden (cuprammonium) method and cutch treatment prevented the growth of the fungi.—Scientific American.

Medical Triumph.

The successful operations on the brain of epilepsy patients performed by Dr. Walter E. Dandy of Johns Hopkins university, and by Dr. Curtis Burnham have now been verified by a number of other surgeons. When a definite set of muscles are affected in the epilepsy spasms, seizures, attacks, fits convulsions or loss of consciousness as it may be called, the disease can often be traced to some fluid matter, scar or cyst which covers the section of the brain whose nerve fibers lead to the tongue or fingers. In other words, the first care on record of an epileptic who lost consciousness during the attack was triumphantly brought to pass by Doctor Dandy.

Talked Like a Tailor.

The members of the choir were practicing the anthem "As the Hart Pants After the Water Brooks."

The rendering of the open stages was apparently not quite to the satisfaction of the gentleman who wielded the baton.

He considered it necessary, therefore, to tender some advice to the tenors, and caused great consternation and not a little embarrassment among his flock by the following announcement:

"Gentlemen, your expression is simply splendid, but the time is very poor—really, your pauses are far too long."—From Ideas, London.

Dried Flies for Fish.

A New York firm recently imported three tons of dried flies from South America. They were for feeding young fishes, and have found a ready sale to fish culturists.

The United States fisheries bureau bought 100 pounds of them, for an experiment, but results seemed to show that fine-chopped liver was better grub for baby trout. On a diet of liver they grew faster, and a larger percentage of them survived.

Hyndman peak is the only named mountain in Idaho that rises above 12,000 feet. It stands near the Blaine-Custer county line and has a height of 12,078 feet. There are, however, several unnamed peaks near Hyndman peak whose elevations are greater than 12,000 feet, as shown by the contours on the Bailey topographic map, published by the United States geological survey.

The Weak or the Strong One

If you see before you a strong and safe bridge leading to your goal, would you ignore it and choose some insecure and tottering structure?—

If you were offered sure aid in time of trouble would you hesitate to accept it?—

The answer is simple—you would choose what all evidence showed to be the safe way—and you would risk nothing in useless experiments.

Why then do some women risk one of their most precious possessions—their health—in trying medicines of unknown value, when everybody knows that the most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is more proof:

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' and there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines.'"—Mrs. Wm. Stein, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she said she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. Sherman, 208 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.
